POSTOFFICE NOTICE.-An evening mail for Augusta and Savannah, and for distribution beyond those offices, will close daily at the Postoffice at half-past 6 o'clock.

PERSONAL .- Brevet Major-General E. R. S. CAN-By and lady, accompanied by some officers of his staff, arrived in this city yesterday and took rooms at the Mills House.

SALE OF A GROCERY STORE .- We would direct the attention of our readers to the sale of the stock of a wholesale grocery store which will take place today at the stand of Messrs. McKay & Campbell, in Meeting street opposite the Pavilion Hotel.

REGISTRATION IN THE CITY.—The following returns were obtained from the different Precincts: WHITES. COLORED

DAY AND NIGHT SCHOOL -- A pleasing sign of the times is the increase in the number of private schools in the city, and the advantages offered to those who are anxious to educate their children. Mr. A. Dory, Jr., as will be seen by an advertis ment in another column, opens his day and night school, at the corner of Smith and Radeliffe streets. This school is well managed, and those who have heretofore patronized Mr. Dory, will find it to their advantage to continue the connection. Mr. Dory is thoroughly conversant with his duties and understands the art of teaching the young idea how to shoot.

THE MEETING STREET RETREAT.-MESSES. BA-DENHOP & Co.'s NEW RESTAURANT .- The Dathway of life is a thorny route, relieved only here and there by some oasis at which the traveller can repose and forget the troubles that are before him. We have, in our immediate neighborhood, one of these green spots, where the weary can find rest, and where the turmoil and bustle of the outer world are forgotten in the discussion of more dainty subjects. To relieve the mind of the reader, who is doubtless anxious to find the precise locality of this resting place, we announce at once that Messrs. H. H. BADENHOP & Co. have opened at their old stand a restaurant, where all that flies, swims or walks, may be found prepared in the most accomptable manner for either the spicure or the gourmand. To accommodate the numerous guests of the establishment, booths have been erected, and the usual paraphernalis usually found in first-class eating houses. The Meeting Street Retreat is so well known that it is useless to describe it, as, in the words of a bard: "None named it but to praise." Those parties who formerly patronized the lunch and took their turtle soup like aldermen, can now have an opportunity of increasing their knowledge, and of testing the completeness of the cuisine. We know what will be the result of their researches, and leave them to the tender mercies of Messrs. Badenhop & Co.

THE FARMER for Septembe, has been received. This monthly is published by ELLIOTT & SHIELDS, Richmond; also, THE AMERICAN FARMER, published in Baltimore, from which we take the following "Horse Remedies," copied from the Turf, Field and Farm: dies," copied from the Turf, Field and Farm:

Heaves.—There have been various opinions expressed by veterinary surgeons in relation to the heaves, but we believe it has become a settled question that it is a disease, however, which cannot be completely cured. The severity of the disease, however, can be materially mitigated, and the following will be found worth trying: Mix equal parts of pulverized borax and saltpetre, and give the diseased horse a tablespoonful twice a day, and every other day a spoonful of sulphur. Give also half a spoonful of copperas twice a week. Continue taus mode of treatment five or six weeks.

WOUNDS ON HORSES.—One of the best washes that we know of for ordinary wounds on horses is to take one quarter of a pound of saltpetre, half a pint of turpentiue, and put them into a bottle; shake up well before using; apply to the wound three times a day with a feather. This we have heard highly recommended from reliable sources.

SALT AND ASHES FOR HORSES.—Those keeping horses should, twice a week, throw in a handful of salt and ashes. Mix them by putting in three parts of salt to one of ashes. Horses relish this, and it will keep their hair soft and fine. It will prevent bots, colic, etc. A little ground sulphur, mixed with salt and ashes, and given once in two or three weeks, is also beneficial. All domestic animals will be thus benefitted.

PROCESSIONS PROHIBITED.—It will be seen that by ar order from the Post Commander all processions are prohibited in Mare unless special permission is first obtained by the parties, and in all cases twenty-four hours notice must be given to the proper authorities. This order will be productive of great good to the city, as it will at on. put a stop to all disorderly gathering, such as torch light processions, political parades, &c. These have recently become a great nuisance as they are always accompanied by a rabble, who do not scruple to engage in rows, and thus bring discredit on parties who were peaceably disposed. It is presumed that the order referred to processions of every description, and even the usual civic parades of the fire companies are included. It would, however, be an easy matter for those companies desiring to celebrate any day by a procession to obtain the requisite permission from the authorities, as no disturbance has ever resulted from these displays. The order is not intended to cramp the liberties of the citizen, but to deter unruly and disorganized mobs from parading through the streets, carrying concealed weapons, and committing other offences against the peace of the city. In Charleston every procession is accompanied by a vanguard of negroes, both small and large-these are always armed with sticks, and excited by the music, are rife for any disturbance, and frequently provoke one for the mere sake of being in a row It is this element that has invariably been the head and front of any offending, and as it is impossible to prevent their presence at any public , or to control them when excited, the order prohibiting all processions, will have a salutary One copy one year. effect. Our city has been too long harrassed by the crowds of idle freedmen who gather from all quarters at the sound of a drum, and by occupying the sidewalk and the streets, become a nuisance not only to the parties participating iu the parade, but to the citizens who are frequently compelled to make a wide detour to avoid the crowd.

DEATH OF A LOCAL .- The last end of a local re-But at last his own time came, and Jun Duffr was about to die. He wasn't a particle afraid. notwithstanding all his falsehoods, for he knew it would help the local column; so he sent all his relatives down stairs, and got his assistant reporter to stand by him, and he made him swear that he would not give the item to any other paper, and then, with a serene smile or his face, he vielded up his life, and JIM DUFFY was no more His will was full of items, one of which provided that he should be buried in Philadelphia, because it was in Pennsylvania, and a pencil (without a vania," however,) had been his favorite tool. He desired that they should put the last edition of the Exaggerator in his coffin, and bury him with the church service that had the greatest number of superlative adjectives in it.

DROWNING OF A YOUNG LADY IN SAVANNAH .- The News and Herald of the 2d says: "As public chronicle one of the most heart-rending disasters that, we think, has ever happened in Savannah, and which has laid waste the happiness of a home

Miss Daley, a young lady aged from sixteen to eighteen years, the daughter of Mr. MICHAEL DALEY, one of our oldest citizens, accompanied her father North some time since, and while there was called back by the serious illness of her sister who resides in this city. Leaving her father at New York, she took passage on the steamer Her-man Livingston, which, after a safe voyage, arrived here last night about nine o'clock. Miss DALEY, young, and impatient no doubt to greet her relatives, was among the first to start unaided and alone, to cross the gang plank, which in the darkness afforded but precarious footing even to those who were practised and had experience of its dangers When about midway between the vessel and the wharf, her foot slipped, and without a cry she fell into the dark water beneath, which was rushing up with the force of a flood tide, and sustained for a moment by her clothing, carried her toward the stern of the vessel, when she sunk without rising again. Out of a crowd on the wharf not one could be found brave enough to risk their life to save the drowning girl-s sad commentary on the elfishness of human nature.

Her shawl and bonnet, we believe, were recovered, and at the hour we write efforts are being made with drags to find her body."

ALLENDALE, BARNWELL DISTRICT, S. C.,
March 1, 1867.

Messyl Little & Marshall:
Gentlemen: I used, during the past season, one of "ingersoll's Portable Cotton Presses," purchased of you last september. I have always been prejudiced in favor of the "Screw Press," and nothing but dire necessity induced me to try any other. I take pleasure, however, in adding my testimony in favor of its entire adaptation to the wants of a cotton plantation. It have packed with but two hands, yet I prefer four—two at each lever. My bales all weighed over 500, ibs. The first lot I sent to market averaged 562 lts. My impression is that 500 lbs. is about the capacity of the Press, and a greater number of pounds subject the follow-block to too much risk, unless the sides of the cotton box was increased. It would add greatly to the value of the Press if the cotton box was ten inches longer. In haste, I am, very respectfully, Your obedient servant, &c., B. W. LAWTON.
P. S. I took my Press down and carried it some four miles to pack the crop of a neighbor, who failed to have a "Screw" built; he was so much pleased that he has determined to abandon the "Screw" and purchase "Ingersoll's Press."

OFFICE OF KING'S MOUNTAIN RAILBOAD COMPANY, YORKYILLE, S. C., April 15, 1867.

GENTLEMEN: I have just received your letter of February 14th—upon my return to this place, after ah absence of two months—and this reply may be too late for your "Descriptive Circular of Ingersoll's Cotton Press."

The Press I used in packing my cotton last year worked admirably, packing, with ease from 500 to 525 lbs. With good active hands to work it, I am satisfied that from eighteen to twenty bates might readily be packed in a day.

This Press combines the advantages of lightness, and consequent portability and simplicity (being easily managed b, any one of ordinary intelligence). Great compressing force, with little motive power, and "last, but not least," it is worked entirely by hand, thus saving for the farm horses the hard labor imposed upon them by the use of the ordinary "Screw."

ASTROLOGY. AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

SHE REVALS SECRETS NO MORTAL EVER ENEW.

She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and triends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages, and tells you the vary day you will marry, gives you the names, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers, unvails ib. dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the matefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the sapech and positions of the planets and the fired stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity, Consultation fee, with thoness and all desired intormation. 31. Parties lighted.
